Description

Starting from the Pitztal Bike (MTB 614), which winds like a lifeline through the entire Pitztal valley, this medium-difficulty route branches off at the hamlet of Kienberg in the direction of Jerzens. Through the centre of Jerzens, the route runs for a short stretch on the asphalt road, only to branch off to the right at the second bend at the hamlet of Egg onto the forest path into the Innerwald forest. The route winds its way uphill through the shady forest. On the last section, the route led through meadowland to the Stalderhütte or on a short branch path up to the Hochzeigerhaus. If you want to enjoy a beautiful and varied round tour, you can cycle back to the starting point shortly after the Stalderhütte on the Tanzalm route (MTB 609).
